LADIES DAY 2018

September the 8th will be the date for our Ladies Day. There are teams forming for help to execute this day. Please signup and be an effective part of making this day as successful as it has been in the past.

SUMMER SERIES

If you havent been coming on Wednesday nights you are MISSING OUT! The topic this year is LOVE. Audio and video copies are available on the website! Please try your best to be here.

PANTRY ITEMS

Our pantry gets used all of the time. We need to keep it stocked. Please help out in any way that you can. We spotlight certain items every month. However, any items can be used. Think of items you use every day that someone may not be fortunate enough to have. Deodorant, soap, toothpaste...items to make a meal with...rice-beef stew-and-canned fruit could be put together for a meal. Put together items that would be used for a hearty meal. Canned meat...dry beans...etc.

Could your family pledge to bring a meal such as suggested above? Look through your pantry. Maybe you have extras. Check out the BOGO sales! Coupons! Lets all work together to keep our pantry stocked. God loves a cheerful giver!

When You Get "On"

By Mike Riley

Aging
When you get on and lived a long time
And the walk up the stairs is a mighty high climb,
Though your eyes are dimmer than what they were
And the pages of a book has a misty blur,
Strange as the case may seem to be
Then is the time you will clearly see.

You'll see yourself as you really are,
When you've lived a lot and you've travelled far,
When your strength gives out and your muscles tire
You'll see the folly of ambition's desire;
You'll see what now to your sight is hid,
The numberless trivial things you did.

Often the blindest are youthful eyes,
For age must come ere a man grows wise,
And youth makes much of the mountain peaks,
And the strive for fame and the goals it seeks,
But age sits down with the setting sun
And smiles at the boastful deeds it's done.

You'll sigh for the friends that were set aside
By a hasty word or a show of pride,
You'll laugh at medals that now you prize,
For you'll look at them through clearer eyes
And see how little they really meant
For which so much your strength was spent.

You'll see, as always an old man sees,
That the waves die down with the fading breeze,
That the pomp's of life never last for long,
And the great sink back to the common throng,
And you'll understand when the struggle ends,
That the finest gifts of this life are friends.
